An oscar winning year

To cope with an influx of new students Connersville started an extensive building program in 1957. This year saw the erection of a new subterranean gymnasium and many new classrooms.

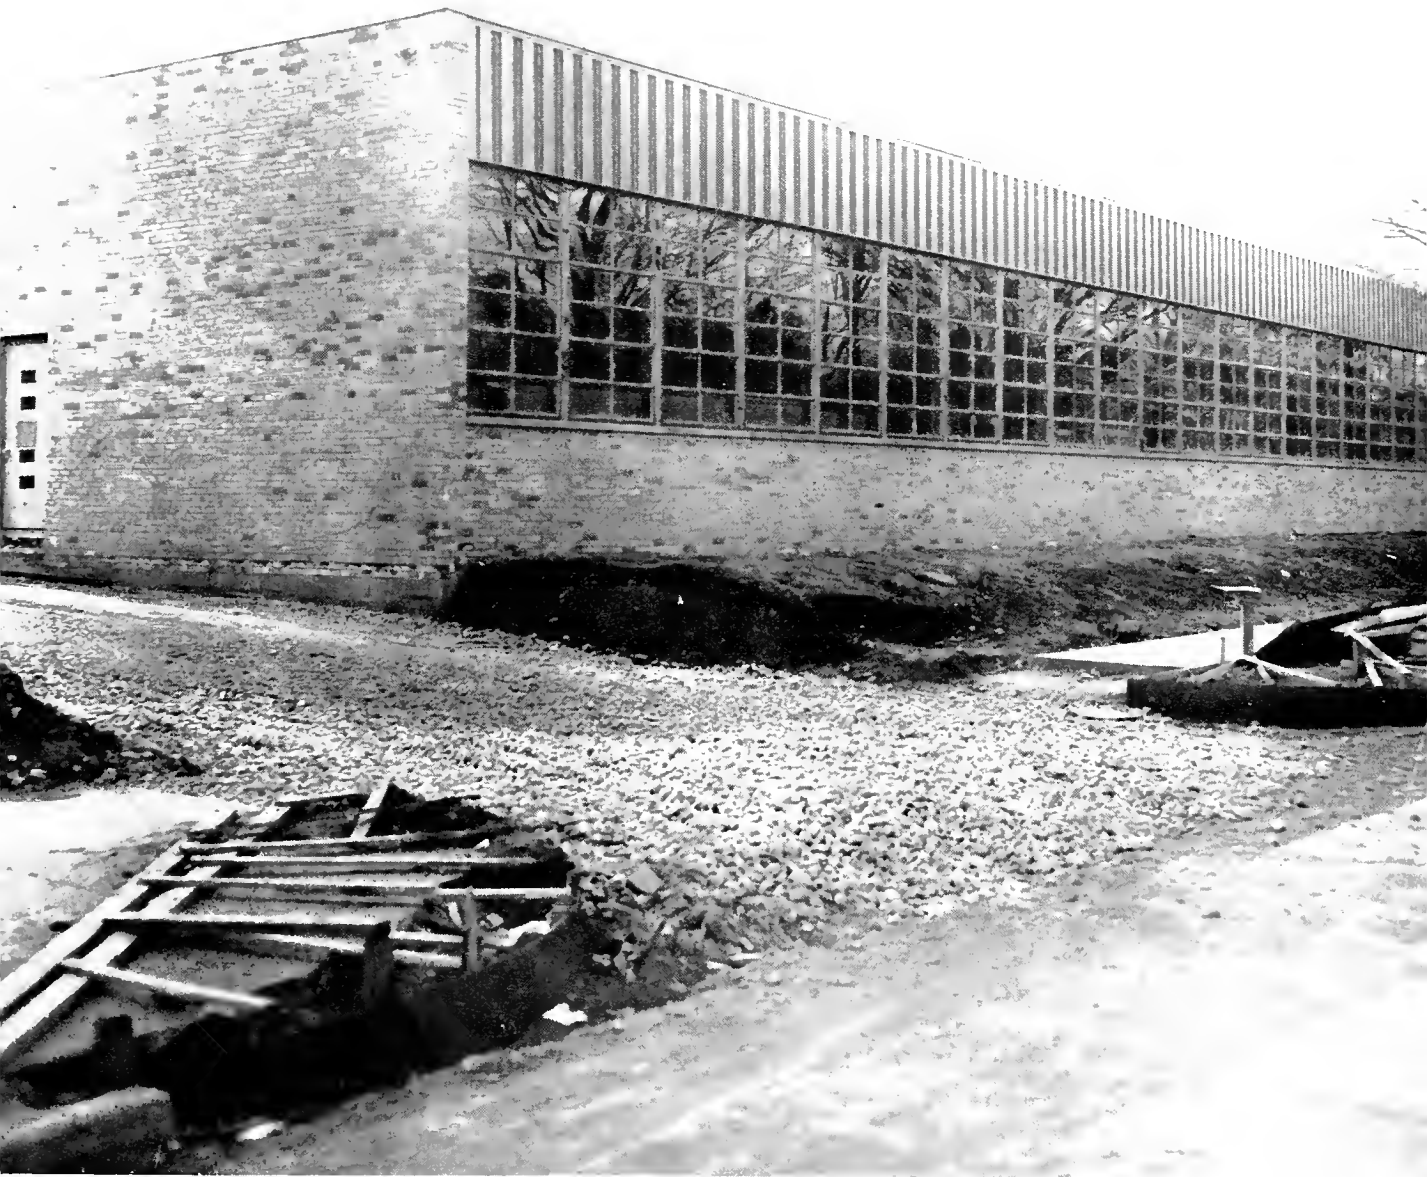

Education and progress go hand in hand, and C.H.S. to benefit its students has equipped the classrooms with the most modern equipment available.

We may also take pride in the new gym as there aren't many of this type in the state. Hoosier hysteria can find a vent in this modern new structure that seats 6000.

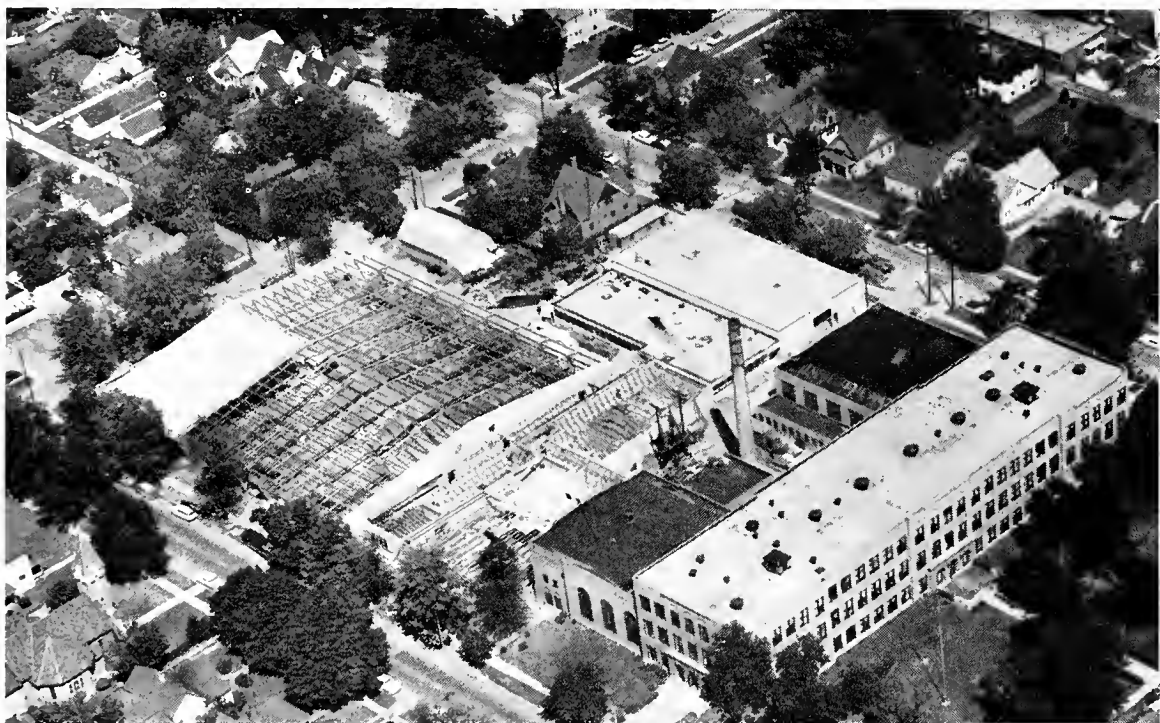

In the above view from the Grand Avenue entrance we see part of the new addition as it nears completion.

in a new building, a new gym and shops.

One of the most outstanding features of the new addition is the industrial arts building. The facilities and space provided by this area will greatly alleviate the problem of the ever-growing shop department.

In the above panels can be seen the progress on the new addition. The upper left picture shows the initial ground-breaking in February of 1957. In the right picture many of the steel girders have been erected. The bottom picture shows a portion of the roof in position.

Classrooms and work

The finished product! The completed addition will double the size of the school making it one block square. It will accommodate more students with the latest equipment in the new classrooms.

are the basis of an oscar team...

In a movie or play it takes the directors, producers, and actors working in harmony to make it successful. This is also true of a smooth running high school.

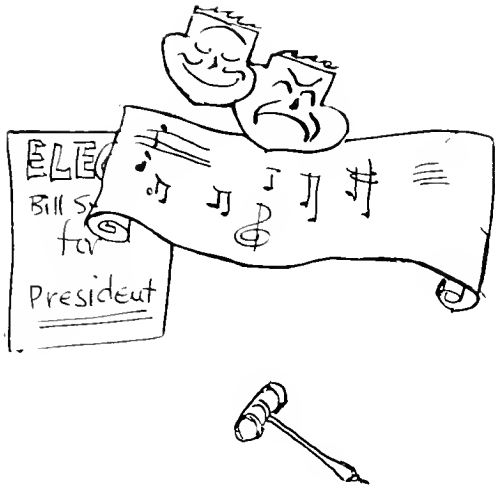

Your high school is more than an educational institution. It is a home away from home in the four short years you spend learning, developing your personality, and preparing yourself for adulthood. Surface things change but the basic traits you form in these years remain the same. For this reason teamwork and cooperation are essential not only in your school but in every high school.

Oscars come to those

In every high school there are those students who stand apart from the rest. Whether by talent or hard work they devote above and beyond what is expected of them.

This tenacity of purpose is admired by their classmates for these students bring honor to themselves and the school in their various jobs and endeavors. The thing to keep in mind is that these students differ from the others in only one respect—that extra effort and time spent to do a better job.

The traditional color guard is an impressive prelude to all C.H.S. basketball games.

These five C.H.S. yell leaders just won't come back down to earth after inspecting the new gymnasium. Aren't those girders dangerous?

Many thrills will be viewed by Spartan followers in this subterranean establishment when the 1958-59 roundball season rolls around.

Thrills of winning and smiles in

It is unfortunate that every year cannot be a "banner year" in sports. It is true school spirit when the students can look at a season record with a long loss column, and not blame it on someone; but rather remember that the games were well played even though the breaks weren't there. A winning streak can cause unimaginable elation yet the lesson to be learned in accepting defeat gracefully is more important.

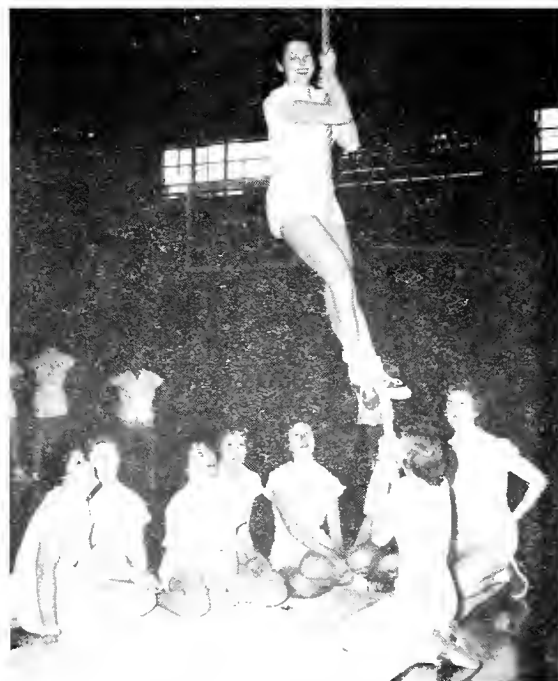

Brookville's new basketball plant was the scene of the 1958 Sectional as the local emporium was not playable at tourney time. The gym isn't the same, but the faces of the crack Spartan varsity are familiar.

defeat are vital lessons.

The above six gentlemen compose the C.H.S. Athletic Council. Left to right, Mr. Heaton, Mr. Inman, Mr. Huber, Mr. Heck, Mr. Crouse and Mr. Gunning.

Girls' physical ed isn't what it used to be! Tumbling seems to have been replaced by the Indian art of rope climbing. Wonder where it leads to?

Wonder what Mrs. Metz is doing with a big smile on her face! Could it be that all these sophs have their lesson for a change? "Naturally, all my classes are good kids," says Metzie.

A break in a work routine is something looked forward to in great anticipation. Two traditional breaks in the C.H.S. work schedule are Junior-Senior and the Prom. The planning that goes into each of these events is enjoyed almost as much as attending the result of many weeks preparation. Many other dances, impromptu parties, and club events provide the necessary social diversion throughout the school year.

Participation by everyone

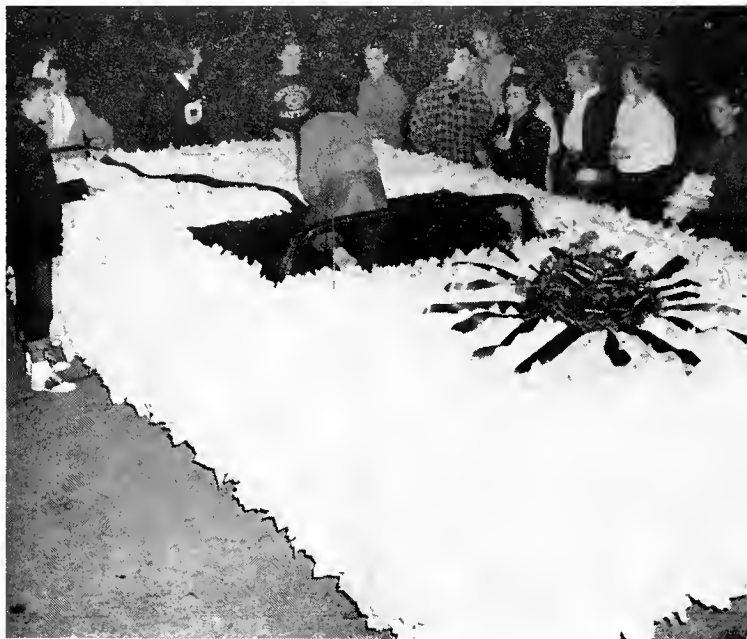

Mr. Richards speaks to the Exploratory Teachers class headed by Mrs. Garnet Donicker.

Underclassmen view with nostalgia the senior class' final effort as they get ready for graduation.

is necessary for an oscar winning studio.

In reviewing a school year you will probably remember your classmates and the things in which you participated together. This togetherness weaves a class into a working unit. It is only possible when all the students participate in whatever goes on to make it a success. A slacker in high school misses a lot. It is the person who enters into many activities that derives real enjoyment and memories from his high school years.

These industrious seniorites are putting the finishing touches on the Thunderbird Float.

With her cordial assistance and willing co-operation, Mrs. Dorsett aids any C.H.S. student in his library needs.

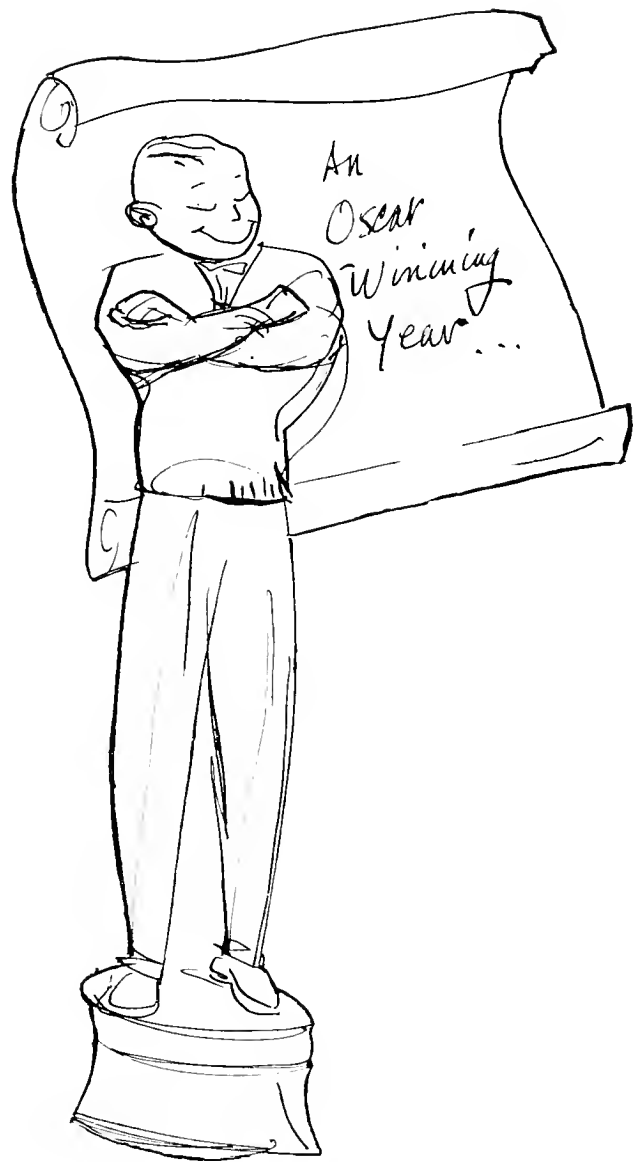

Patricia Stevens has nothing over Connersville High as our gals model their self-made jackets.

To Judy
 The sharpest girl in the sophomore class, who will be a "great" cheer-leader, Good Luck, Always Bill "59"

Our people constitute a large smooth running organization. . . . Connersville High School. They boast in their ranks talent, leadership, and ability. The executives in this organization, the teachers, principal, and deans, guide and develop these traits socially and academically.

This next section will be centered around the graduating class, some of their activities, and the underclassmen at C.H.S.

Our People...

The producers, directors, and actors

Mr. Howard L. Crouse came to Connersville High School as principal in April 1956 from Frankfort, Indiana. Besides performing his regular duties as principal, Mr. Crouse is planning a curriculum revision for C.H.S.

Mr. Frank Van Slyke is now in his second year as Superintendent of the Connersville Public Schools. He maintains his office in the Shipley Building.

of C. H. S. studios

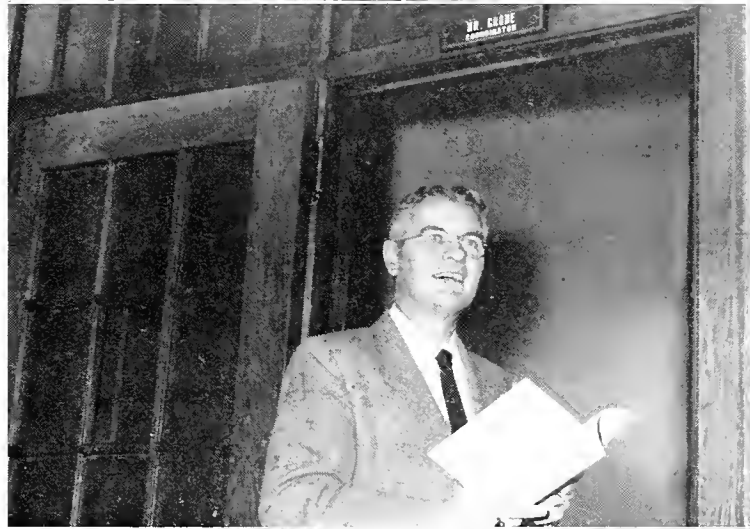

Mr. William Arlis Richards is Assistant Superintendent of the Connersville Public Schools. He has been a member of the teaching profession for many years and is a former principal of C.H.S.

Mr. Ben Lipps was appointed to the School Board January 1, 1958 to replace Mr. Lucius Cramer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed, deans at C.H.S., are both former full-time teachers. Mr. Reed is kept occupied by his counseling duties and his physics class, while Mrs. Reed devotes her full time to counseling.

Mr. W. E. Crone, coordinator, is in charge of adult night classes and teaches a class in diversified occupations.

Handling office procedures is the job of Mrs. Madeline Sparks. She is also kept busy with secretarial duties of Mr. Crouse. That cheerful, smiling face that greets visitors in the bookstore belongs to Mrs. Ruth Archbold. Some of her activities are selling tickets for school athletic events, book-keeping, and operating the bookstore.

Which will it be? A wise decision leads to a successful future. Mr. Reed displays the various colleges available for graduates of an accredited North Central high school.

English department head, Miss Bartley, conducts the advanced college preparatory class—English 9, college composition.

Middle right: Could these two be looking for scholarship results?

Underclassmen

No high school would be complete without a junior class, and this school is no exception. Tolerated by the seniors, ignored by the sophomores, and awed by the freshmen, juniors must struggle for recognition. With the aid of their sponsors: Mr. Cord, Mr. Crane, Mr. Megenity, Mr. Brandley, Mr. Gunning, Mr. Paul, and Mr. Sayre they have achieved their goal. We seniors take our hats off to you.

Extra curricular activities are essential in every high school. They give the student a chance to participate and hold office in an organization of his own interest. The clubs and activities at C.H.S. are many and varied, giving a wide range of selection to all those interested.

In the following pages we want to give you a resume of our club activities, major achievements, and informal life.

Our Clubs...

Crewwork is essential for a precisioned

The yearbook reigns as center of attention as the staff reads it for publication.

Exasperating occupation, but both advisor, Mr. Cord, and editor, Dot Peterman, are able to flash a smile as the year book was "put to bed" on schedule in February.

As the editors of this yearbook finally relax and again begin to slip into the quieter routine of C. H. S., they cannot but reflect on some of the difficulties, problems, and fun that went into the formation of the 1958 annual.

It's true, at times there was doubt as to whether Oscar would ever leave the designing board, but with everyone's help and cooperation we made it and are proud to present to you this year's Coliscan.

Aided and "pushed" by Mr. Rod Cord, our advisor, we were able to meet the deadlines and produce an "on time" book. Through Mr. Paul's business staff, the Coliscan campaign was admirably conducted. With the indispensable assistance of the engravers and printers, our undertaking was completed. Everyone worked hard, and contentment enfolded all that a job was well accomplished.

Holding down the business end of the Coliscan sales this year were Beth Ingermann, Mr. John Paul, and Martha Bolender.

Through their hard work and co-operation, home room sales were successful.

From the minds

Through the journalistic talents of the pictured Clarionites all members of C. H. S. were able to enjoy a school paper twice a month. These ambitious newspaper proteges, under the advice of Mr. Rod Cord, were kept busy compiling the latest events and happenings around Senior High.

Previous to employment on the Clarion Staff all the reporters had passed a required semester of Journalism, thus acquiring sufficient knowledge of the "why, what, and wheres" of writing. The apprenticeship ended, they began a semester as full-fledged reporters. Meeting every day in 201 during period six, the staff met en masse and overcame problems of producing a school paper.

After one obtained fifteen printed inches in the publication, membership was granted into the 12 et 30 Press Club. One of the ambitions of all the members was to become eligible for Quill and Scroll, a national organization for high school journalists who had earned 125 printed inches and a high scholastic standing.

CLARION STAFF

NATIONAL THESPIAN

Through the efforts

Whether behind the scenes or out on center stage Strut and Fretters are always a beehive of activity.

This year's organization consisted of 59 members, 34 new ones, under the sponsorship of Miss Phyllis Walters, new speech, drama, and English teacher. Membership was open to any upper-classman who successfully lived through the try-outs.

With the blood, sweat, and tears of the club and Miss Walters' direction, the crew gave a fine performance of "Cheaper by the Dozen" on December 2 and 3. Besides the annual play the group also had installation of new members and earned money for the secondary event on their agenda, attending a Broadway production.

Officers of the 1958 organization were: Clarence Mitchell, president; Linda Fettig, vice-president; Sharon Britton, secretary; Judy Aldridge, treasurer; and Linda Brattain, scribe.

of all the action is enhanced.

With a membership open to any sophomore, junior or senior girl, the Ushers Club plays a needful roll in the successful outcome of all programs in the high school auditorium. These girls, advised by Mrs. Robert Crawford, collect tickets, distribute programs, and with a friendly greeting welcome the audience and put them at ease.

The group volunteers their services and an attempt is made to give every member an opportunity to serve sometime during the year. Events in which ushers are required are commencement exercises, baccalaureate services, and various plays and concerts.

The president of this year's organization was Marilyn Crawford and the secretary was Beverly Fellers.

A combination of beauty and talent led to the selection of pert senior Judy Martin as F.F.A. Sweetheart of C.H.S.

The Future Farmers of America, or "F. F. A." as it is commonly known, is a national organization of, by, and for boys studying vocational agriculture. Our local chapter farms an 120 acre farm west of town as one of their activities.

Each year F. F. A. elects a chapter sweetheart who then competes for district sweetheart. This year Judy Martin, pictured at left, was the local chapter's choice.

Officers of this organization are: President, Paul Henry; First Vice-President, Paul Nobbe; Second Vice-President, Arlie Bradburn; Third Vice-President, John Koohns; Secretary, Bob Metcalf; Treasurer, George Henry; Reporter, Teddy Pflum; Sentinel, David Cox; Parliamentarian, James Petty; Chaplain, Everett A. McCauley; Advisor, Everett L. McCauley.

This organization is the largest all-boy club in our high school. F. F. A. has its own basketball and softball teams which play other chapters in this area.

Men of Sparta

Hi-Y, differing from most high school organizations, limits its membership to males only. Even though this club has only 13 members, they get much accomplished each school year.

Every year in the past Hi-Y has crowned the Football Queen. This year, due to cancellation of the last few games, they were unable to do this.

One of this organization's civic projects is having a Christmas party for needy children.

The officers of this club are: President, Kenny Waldron; Vice-President, Steve Breitenbach; Secretary, Howard Neff; Treasurer, John Kemp; Sergeant-at-arms, Harvey Lewis. Their advisor is Mr. Heaton.

Pictured above are members of the Hi-Y club. They are mapping out some of the club's future activities. Mr. Heaton, the club's advisor, keeps an eye on the boys.

BETA TRI-HI-Y

Tri-Hi-Y is divided into two groups: Tri-Hi-Y Beta, consisting of Freshmen and Sophomores, and Tri-Hi-Y Alpha, the Junior and Senior organization.

The purpose of both clubs is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character.

Projects of these clubs include the giving of a Thanksgiving basket, contributing to civic projects, and giving to the State YMCA Scholarship Fund.

The school year of both clubs is highlighted by their annual dance.

Officers of Alpha Tri-Hi-Y are: President, Lois Price; Vice-President, Linda Brattain; Secretary, Helen Brown; Treasurer, Julia Shaver. This club is sponsored by Mrs. Bettie Ball.

Beta's officers are: President, Becky White; Vice-President, Mary Ann Bryant; Secretary, Kathy Buser; Treasurer, Sherri Thomas; and Chaplain, Patsy Smith. The sponsors of this club are Miss Virginia Search, and Mrs. Nickels.

CAMERA CLUB

Photography fiends around C. H. S. have a good chance to unroll their film if they belong to the camera club, directed by Mr. Bill "Flashbulb" Crone.

This year's group learned how to develop and process film and make enlargements. Highlights during the season were especially arranged field trips and lab meetings. Mr. Crone hopes that through the organization the members will increase their knowledge and interest in photography.

Officers for the year were: Jim Barnette, president; Eileen Weaver, vice-president and secretary; Demaris Honaker, treasurer; Chuck Elliott, scribe.

For the past four years boys with a good high school standing have been eligible to join projection club, sponsored by Mr. Richard Knight.

This organization trains students in the care, operation, and upkeep of movie projectors and other visual equipment.

These distinguished gentlemen compose the music department at our fair school. Mr. Ewing, Mr. Beckman, and Mr. Jones.

1958's orchestral labors were guided by Mr. Richard Jones, originally from Cambridge City. Besides long hours of practice, his instrumental proteges participated in an Indiana State Orchestra Contest at Indianapolis. Mr. George Ewing, bandmaster, promoted his Sousa followers to a long workout in marching and a place in the basketball pep band and two year old dance band. Last, but not least, all vocal enthusiasts were given an opportunity to perfect the trials of harmony under the choral direction of Mr. Robert Beckman. During the year each division performed one or more concerts.

With the completion of the new building, an attempt will be made to have a music course enabling those interested students to major in music. Two periods of music could be taken a day and classes in theory and musical appreciation would be offered.

Our star personalities.....

Star studded individuals grace the hallowed halls of senior high—not only scholastically but also personality wise. To prove such a fact the auspicious members of the '58 Cohiscan staff conducted a massive popularity poll among the prominent senior class of C.H.S.

Ballots poured in; and after three days of brain-wearing tabulation, the winners were announced. Celebrities had been born! To give you a bird's eye view of those personalities, the number one photographer was summoned, and pictures were taken of the elites in action.

Every year various senior boys are removed from the halls of inner wisdom to consume a lavish banquet as guests of the Rotary and Lions Clubs. These future socialites are thus given an opportunity to view several entertaining programs and establish a fellowship with some of the prominent businessmen of the community. Through their meetings they acquired an interest in the town's activities and obtained new incentives.

Each boy was chosen by his home room teacher as one of the outstanding students who had achieved recognition in mentality, personality and character. Two such qualifiers were then entitled to attend the meetings of either Rotary or Lions for a month.

and co-stars

Linda Thomas, Connersville's candidate for Halloween Queen, was crowned Miss Fayette County and reigned at this annual festival sponsored by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Linda, the second Connersville representative to win this contest, was chosen from four other girls representing neighboring counties. The girls were rated on personality, poise, scholastic ability, and beauty.

The float Linda rode in was a Thunderbird completely engulfed by white paper napkins with red streamers forming an X in the front. In the center of the hood was a large arrangement of red carnations.

John Story, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, places the Halloween Queen crown on the head of Linda Thomas, Connersville High School's entrant and winner of the Miss Fayette County Contest.

Two outstanding members of the local F.F.A. chapter are Wendall Hurst and Paul Nobbe. Wendall is Star Farmer, and Paul holds the position of sectional president.

Pictured above are some of the cast members of "Cheaper by the Dozen," which was presented by Strut & Fret on December 2 and 3 under the able direction of Miss Phyllis Walters.

The old and.... The new....

We boast of our athletic system, athletes, and coaches. Winning comes easy while losing is sometimes hard but we emerge with the satisfaction that it all is a learning experience. We were not state champions but everybody played the part.

In August the coming 1957 football season showed promises of retaining the undefeated season which began in the autumn of 1956. The return of three starting lettermen from the previous year's team was supplemented by six other members who had also seen previous action. However, before the '57 season opened, Ronnie Howard, starting right end, suffered a leg injury in practice and remained on the sidelines throughout the season. A hard fought opening game brought C. H. S. a win over New Castle.

Football Coaches: Head Coach, Jake Inman; Assistant Coaches, Paul Heaton and Ken Gunning.

Pigskin review

The loss of ace fullback Harvey Lewis about this time proved quite a blow also. Harvey underwent surgery for a shoulder injury.

With the season's mark at 4 wins and 4 losses and two more games to play, another "fired up" team came to town, the flu. By far the toughest foe to be faced, the flu caused the cancellation of the last two games.

Hoosiermania reigns supreme in C'ville

Posing for the camera on the local hardwood are the members of head basketball coach Ken Gunning's 1957-58 Spartan varsity. Flooring the tallest team in many years, Gunning's crew was led by 6'8" Phil Sargent and 6'4" Kenny Strawn. Also sharing the limelight were deadly shots Jack Hunt and Tom Evans.

Spartan Ronnie Howard and Jack Krebs of Shelbyville scramble for a loose ball. Howard, a senior, was a familiar figure on the ever changing Spartan first five.

The Spartans played one of their many close games against the Shelbyville Golden Bears.

Third place In SCC highest since 40's

L. Schneider, M. Brockman, J. Heineman, I. Mitchell.

Coach Rod Cord's tennis players consist of four underclassmen and a senior, Ray McIntosh. The four returning players should prove to be very capable in the coming season.

Connersville played host to the South Central Conference Tournament for the first time since 1951 last September, and the Spartans finished in a surprising tie for third.

The Columbus Bulldogs again showed the same domination that they have displayed for the last few years, by walking off with both the singles and doubles crowns. Bulldog senior Bill Irwin took the singles title, and the team of Tom Stewart and Mike Dry emerged victorious in the doubles.

The Spartan doubles team, consisting of Ival Mitchell and Larry Schneider, finished second in the doubles. They won their way into the finals by defeating the teams from Seymour and Shelbyville. This was the first time in many years that Connersville has been represented in the finals of either event.

The other point came when Mike Brockman defeated Bob Meyers, of Seymour, but he was dropped by Irwin in three sets. Joe Heineman, however, lost his opening match to Seymour's Stan Dittmer.

Mitchell and Schneider in a doubles match on the newly surfaced Roberts Park courts.

Prospects brighter for several seasons

Hornung in a neat 5-0 whitewash job over Southport.

BASEBALL

The national pastime in the United States rates only third best at C.H.S. Eclipsed by basketball and football, paseball has gone rather unnoticed in Connersville. This year's team has many players who have been on the squad for two years or more. With a stronger pitching staff and the team's regular hitters, this year's team should hold its own.

With the coming of Spring, baseball again appears all across the country. At C.H.S., baseball reigns supreme on the south side of Spartan Field. Coach Howard Plough's squad plays a tough schedule of conference games here the last two months of the school year. The attendance of these games is increasing as the local interest in this sport climbs.

With a more extensive baseball program in the lower age groups being provided by Little League and Pony League this sport shows signs of being on the upswing at C.H.S. The effect of these programs should be felt within the next two or three years.

"Backstop" Aldridge in action against Southport.

Experience helps

In the Spring, the north side of Spartan Field is the home ground of Coach Paul Heaton's track team. With the help of assistant Harry Brandley, Coach Heaton is fashioning a respectable track squad composed of approximately 90% underclassmen.

Track shares third place with baseball in the popularity of sports at C.H.S. Again like baseball, track is being pushed in the grade schools and in junior high more than in previous years.

The faces of underclassmen overshadowed those of seniors in the track meets. Max Brandley excels in the hurdles, Jerry Humes paces the dashes, Gary Adams leads the pole vaulters, and Bill Spencer dominates the distance runs. On these and other underclassmen ride the hopes of Connersville's track team in future years. With a great deal of experience already behind them, they should justify these hopes.

"Harv" puts the shot for C.H.S. For reasons very obvious, Harvey usually took first place in this event.

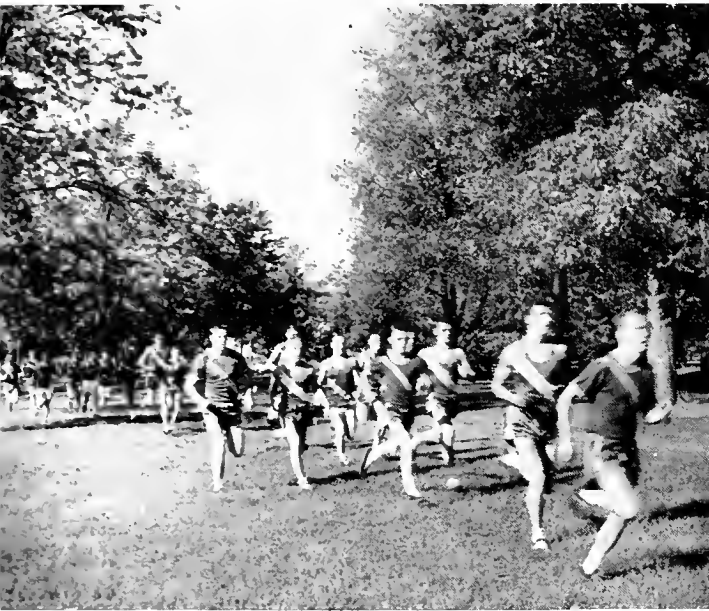

Gary Adams pushing for the bar in the pole vaulting event.

Bill Spencer runs away from the "pack."

Male faculty members from high school and junior high officiate at the cinder meets for C.H.S. Harvey Lewis, Don Thie, and Linnie Rambo are seniors who have spent much of their time in sports on the track team.

Tracksters' swingsters add prestige

Beeson starts out first in a 3-way Cross-Country meet, stayed there for the next two miles to finish first.

C.H.S. "hill and dale" boys made a good showing this fall under Coach Brandley's guidance. Although cross country is a minor sport, the meets, played at Roberts Park, are followed with great enthusiasm. Bob Beeson, one of the fleetest members of the team, helped C.H.S. to many victories this year as he streaked across the tape to finish in the charmed circle. The other "Harriers" sparked by Bob usually finished close behind him.

"Fore," is the echoing cry heard as Coach Ken Gunning's five swingsters tee off. Golf, also a minor sport at C.H.S., is gathering more admirers as our ball pounders improve at the links. This year's team was composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores who played most of their games at the Connersville Country Club. The experience these underclassmen receive now will help to build par-scorers for the coming years.
